PREFACE.

It is not too much to say, that so far as Scottish Coins are concerned this is the most important Collection ever disposed of in this House. Besides numerous examples acquired in detail or incidentally procured, it contains the most valuable Coins of the Scottish portion of almost all the Cabinets sold, either privately or by public sale, during the last ten years. Collectors interested in Scottish Numismatics will easily recognize contributions from the Lindsay, Foster, and Bergne Collections, as well as the Christmas, Hay Newton, and others of older date. Neither pains nor expense have been spared in procuring the finest examples possible—inferior ones being at once turned out whenever an opportunity occurred of supplying their place by better. The Plates referred to in this Catalogue are those of Mr. Wingate's "Illustrations of the Coinage of Scotland," which, to save needless repetition, is here mentioned once for all. In almost every case they are the identical coins from which the figures were taken, thus rendering the details of the varied readings, &c. on these Coins unnecessary in the following pages

A few pieces may be noted as worthy of special attention:—

ROBERT III, Half St. Andrew, two types, both unique.

James I. and II, Half St. Andrews.

James IV, Unicorn, with the numeral 4.

Mary, Lion, of a unique type.

James VI, Lion, and its parts of Two-thirds and One-third.

James VI, Twenty Pound Piece.

Amongst the Silver :—

Robert Bruce, Farthing.

David II, Groat, of his third coinage, struck at Aberdeen.

David II, Halfpenny, first coinage.

Robert III, Perth and Edinburgh Halfpennies.

James IV, Half Groat, with IIII.

James IV, Groat, with the numeral 4.

Mary, Portrait Testoon of 1553.

James VI, Sixteen and Eight Shilling Pieces.

James VI, Forty Shilling Piece, with bust in armour.

James VI, Sixpence, after the Accession.
